

Dear students,

The examination period is beginning soon. This email is to inform you of the testing concept for students who are sitting examinations on campus.

1. As long as the 7-day incidence in Nuremberg does not exceed 50, you do not have to provide proof of a negative coronavirus test.
2. If the 7-day incidence for Nuremberg published by the Robert Koch Institute (RKI) online is over 50 for three consecutive days, the following regulations go into effect on the fifth day (the second day after the three consecutive days):
 - a) a written or electronic negative test result, that fulfills the requirements specified in the Covid-19 protective measures exemption provision (COVID-19 Schutzmaßnahmen-Ausnahmenverordnung (SchAusnahmV)), must be presented during the identity control process on the respective examination day. A negative result from a rapid test is valid for a maximum of 24 hours.
 - b) Asymptomatic individuals who have proof of their vaccination (vaccinated individuals) are exempted from the requirement to present proof of a test result. A person who has had the final dose of a EU-licensed vaccine at least 14 days prior to the date of the exam is considered fully vaccinated (as shown in their certificates of vaccination, their "Impfpass").
 - c) Similarly, individuals who are recovered and have proof of their recovery are exempted from the test requirement. A recovered person is one who has been infected with the SARS-CoV-2 virus within the last six months and has been proven to have recovered. The infection must have occurred at least 28 days prior to the exam date and must have been confirmed by a PCR test (not a self-test or rapid test).

We wish you well and good luck on your examinations.

Sincerely,

Team Gesundheitsschutz
