How to start a research

How do I start my research?

- A few tips:
 - Use databases to find journal articles or book chapters!
 - Take a look at the subject terms and the bibliographies of your results! Note down your search terms.
 - Use interlibrary loan to access literature that is not available at Nuremberg libraries.
 - Feel free to contact the team of the library 😊

1st Tip: Find suitable subject terms/keywords!

Find keywords/key phrases for your topic

Related terms, synonyms, generic and subordinate terms

Use encyclopedias etc. to find suitable terms → e.g.: Encyclopaedia Britannica

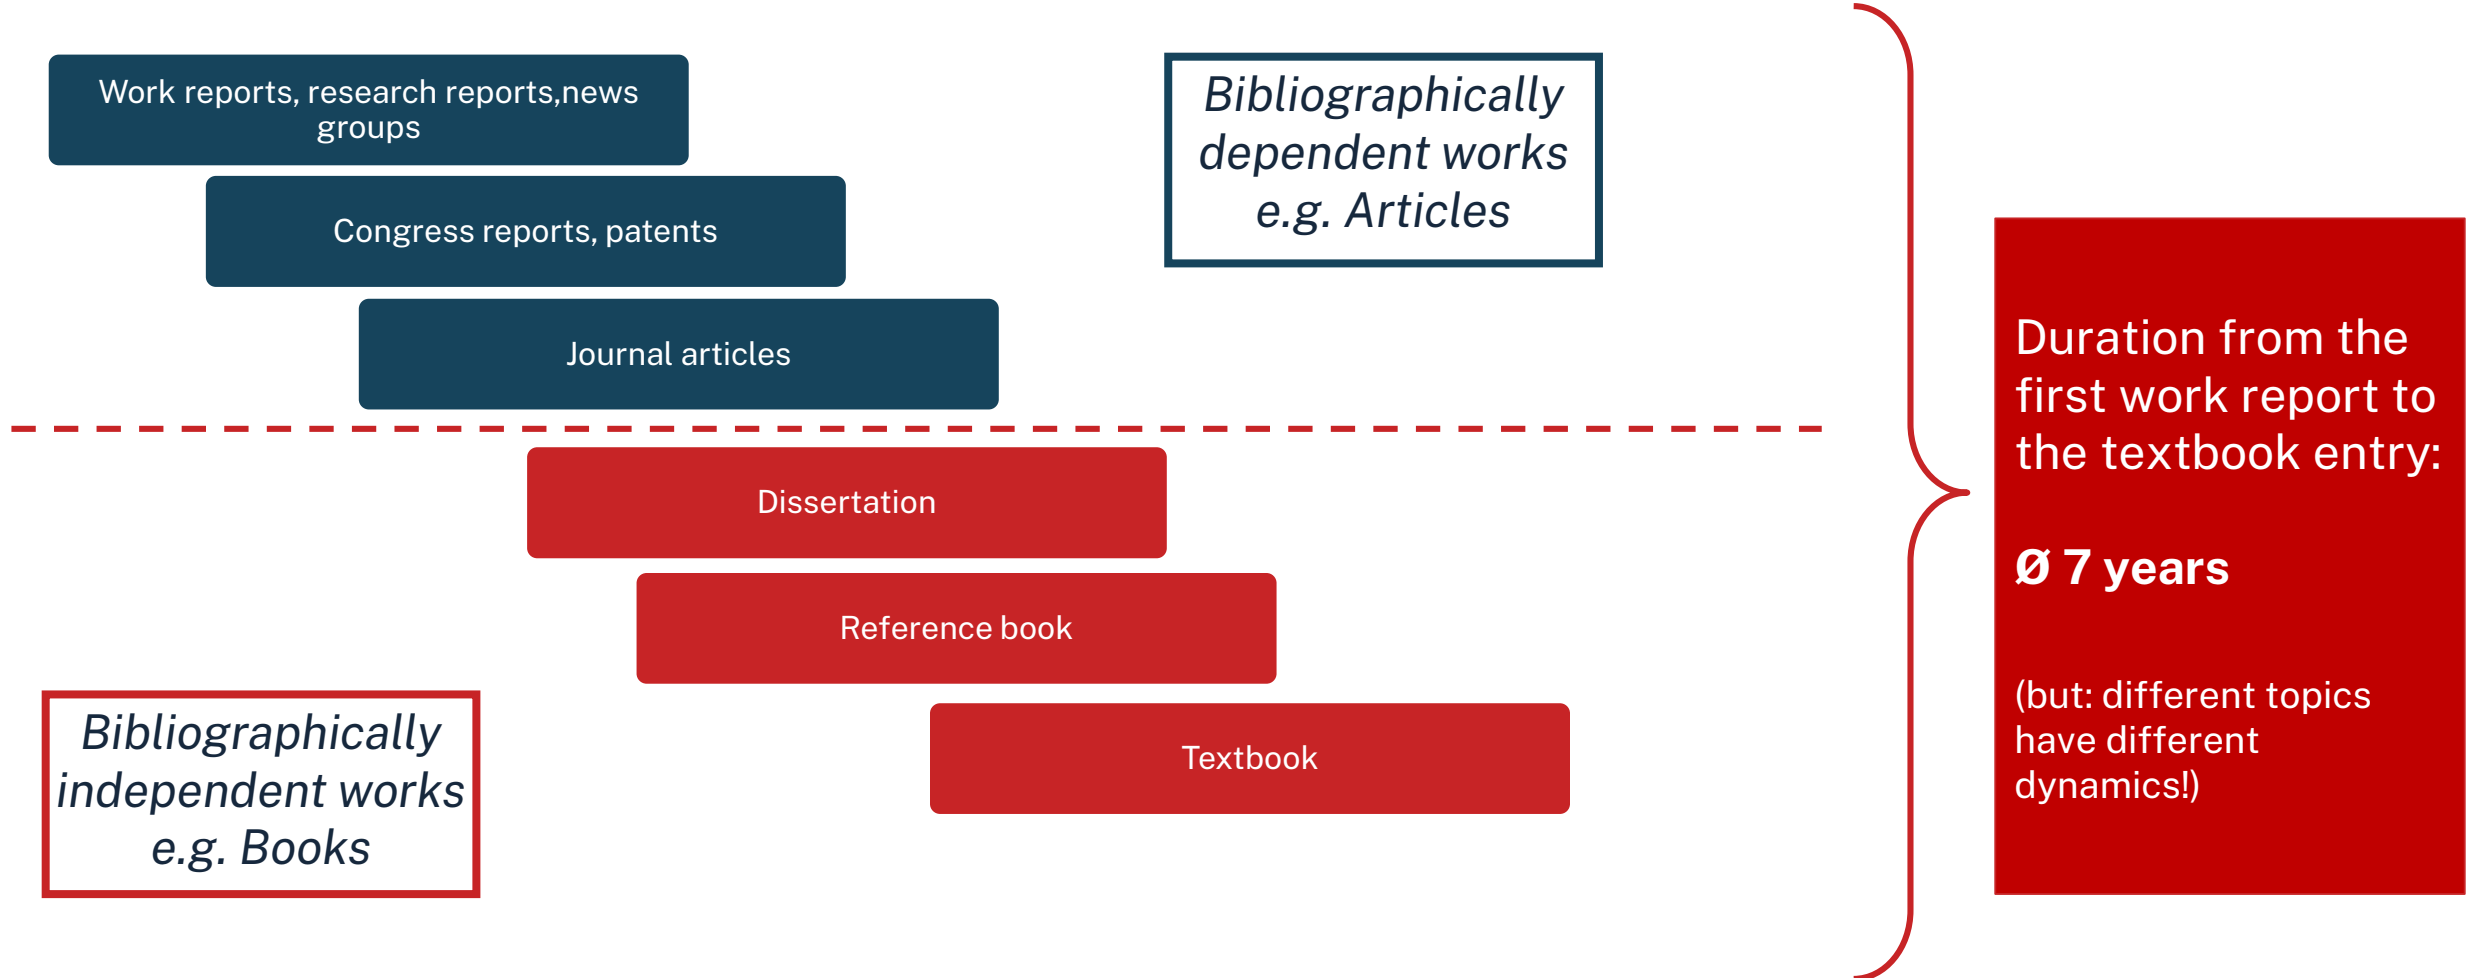

Example: „Staff well-being improved by corporate sports programmes”

- Employee
- staff
- sports
- satisfaction
- corporate sports
- workplace health promotion
- Improvement
- Well-being

German Keywords:

- Mitarbeiter
- Sport
- Zufriedenheit
- Mitarbeitersport/Betriebssport
- Betriebliche Gesundheitsförderung

2nd Tip: Find the right start

Use the OPAC to find books and journals

3rd Tip: Use your sources to find new ones

- Take a look at the subject terms and the bibliographies of your results!
→ Critically review the subject terms and bibliographies you found!
- Note down your search terms.

Create a vocabulary/mind map!

Combine terms differently in the search!

4th Tip: Use interlibrary loan

Where do I find articles?

Where do I find articles?

In databases

- Include journals, newspapers, collections of articles,
- often with full text, otherwise bibliographic reference with abstracts

Why should I use databases?

- Smaller, more accurate number of hits thanks to better filter options
- Reviewed literature, most of which has undergone an editorial process
- Access to more full text possible than e.g. via Google Scholar

Abstract

This study investigates the relationship between engagement, professional culture, and organizational performance within the context of Islamic entrepreneurship. It identifies economic, social, value-based, and environmental drivers as critical influences on Islamic entrepreneurs. Purposive sampling was employed to survey 150 leaders from small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs). Data analysis utilized Structural Equation Modeling (SEM) with AMOS software. The findings reveal a critical role for professional culture in fostering engagement, which, in turn, significantly impacts organizational performance. As measured by human resource indicators, engagement encompasses factors such as organizational advancement aspirations, willingness to sacrifice for the organization, emotional attachment, and shared interests among employees. Additionally, organizational cultural indicators positively contribute to engagement, including freedom of expression, equitable rewards, collaborative decision-making, and employee autonomy. These results emphasize the importance of cultivating a professional culture that fosters engagement through specific organizational cultural practices.

Citation overview

With the Citation Overview, you can quickly get an overview of which articles have been cited and how often.

Important: the hit list must not be too large.

How do I find an article?

If you know the title and author:

Fells, R., Rogers, H., Prowse, P. and Ott U. (2015) Unraveling Business Negotiations Using Practitioner Data

→ Try different literature databases, for example Scopus or Ebsco Business Source Elite, and search with the authors name and some keywords from the title

If you know the journal:

Negotiation and Conflict Management Research, 8 (2) pp.119-136.

→ Check the OPAC or EZB to see whether we have access to the journal and look for the right year and issue

Summary

How can I access the full text?

There are three possibilities:

1. electronic full text is available

→ follow the link and download the fulltext

2. electronic full text is not available, but print version is available in the library

→ Note the year and page numbers and borrow or copy the print version if necessary

3. full text/journal is neither available electronically nor in print

→ Interlibrary loan! (or go to another library yourself)
