Important information about conducting examinations in summer semester 2020

The regulated examination timetable has also been rescheduled in relation to the delay in the start of the lecture period for the summer semester 2020.

Planned examination timetable

- Online examination registration in VirtuOhm: 6 May 2020 (12.00 pm) until 17 May 2020 (23.59 pm)
- Written examinations (electives): 9 July 2020 until 16 July 2020
- Early written examinations (limited number): 17 July 2020 until 24 July 2020
- Written examinations: 25 July 2020 until 31 August 2020

Modified regulations for assessment types

For the summer semester 2020 each respective examination board can deviate from the examination types and scopes stipulated in the SPO and/or module handbook – up until three weeks before the examinations begin.

Please be sure to adhere to all relevant announcements or notices!

Eligibility requirements to sit the exam

If the eligibility requirements to sit the exam for modules or parts of modules cannot be met, students may be permitted to sit an exam, if the responsible examination board has modified the requirements that are specified in the SPO / module handbook on an individual basis by request or in general.

Withdrawing from an exam

Simple absence is recognized as a withdrawal from an exam (including in the Faculties of Business Administration and Civil Engineering). Absence from the examination is generally recognized as excused – without the presentation of a medical certificate.

No requirement to sit examinations

If students are required to sit an examination (first attempt or repeated attempt) in summer semester 2020, this deadline has been officially extended until the end of winter semester 2020/21.

- Every examination attempt in summer semester 2020 is therefore of a voluntary nature.

Failure of an examination

If a student receives the mark 5.0 for a module, this examination attempt is not officially recognized. If, however, it was a first attempt, the examination for this module is considered sat and must be repeated within the regular examination deadlines. A repeat sitting of a passed examination in order to improve the mark is not allowed.

- Please note that this regulation does not apply to final theses.
