

Information for students at TH Nürnberg about digital examinations in summer semester 2020

Version date: 1 July 2020

This semester the Technische Hochschule Nürnberg would like to offer its students digital examinations, as far as possible. In principle digital examination formats, just as in-person examinations are, shall be oriented on the educational goals as described in the respective module descriptions as well as the stipulated legal requirements, including those in the RaPO and APO. According to §2 of the Terms of the Special Regulations to the APO, in the summer semester 2020 the respective examination boards are empowered to allow deviations to the examination type and scope stipulated in the SPOs and module handbooks.

If you do not attempt an examination or if you withdraw from an examination this semester, it is entirely non-detrimental due to the Special Regulations to the APO

1. Hardware use for digital examinations

Private IT equipment may be used to conduct digital examinations. You will not be held responsible, if technical transmission or transfer problems occur during an examination that are not due to reasons within your control. In such instances, the respective examination will be treated as not-attempted. Brief disruptions and/or problems will be disregarded, if they do not or only insignificantly affect the examination process.

2. Voluntary nature of examinations and data protection

All concepts for digital exam formats are based on your voluntary participation, to which you must consent, as described in Art. 4 (11) GDPR and Art. 2 BayEGovG.

The consent form is being prepared for use in VirtuOhm . The form should be available as of 11 July 2020. To best plan for your participation in a digital examination, we need your consent for the entire examination period, regardless of the dates of your examinations, via VirtuOhm by 16 July 2020.

Consent is given, if you have given your agreement to all points in the consent form. You can see whether an examination is offered in digital form, effective immediately, in the list of your examinations in VirtuOhm .

The Technische Hochschule Nürnberg Georg Simon Ohm's Privacy Policy is available at the following link: <https://www.th-nuernberg.de/en/data-protection/>

According to Art. 7 of the GDPR you have the right to rescind your consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent does not affect the legal validity of any data processing that occurred based on the initial consent until the withdrawal.

It generally holds that submitted material is only stored on university servers. Communication with you is also conducted only via official university email addresses and the university server. Examinations are stored up to three years after the entire examination process is concluded and will be deleted according to the GDPR after that point.

3. Independent originality

At the end of the digital examination you must provide a written confirmation that you completed the examination independently and that you used no unpermitted sources or aids to complete the exam. If you do not provide a written confirmation of independent originality or if the statement is false, the respective examination will be given the assessment "insufficient" (mark 5.0) or "failed".

More information about this process for your exams will be provided by the examiner.

4. Information about digital examination processes

The respective examiners will provide information about the examination format and the examination process for each course.

Digital examinations in the moodle-based system, Exams:

If you have provided your consent for the digital exam in VirtuOhm (<https://virtuohm.ohmportal.de/pls/portal/portal.anmelden>), you will be automatically registered for the examination rooms in the exam system.

These virtual examination rooms are found in the new Exam system at <https://exams.ohm-portal.de>. If you do not see the examination room on your start page in the Exam system 24 hours before the exam is scheduled to start, contact the examiner immediately so that they can register you in time for the exam.

Important information about submitting digital examinations

At the end of the exam, you must explicitly submit your work for assessment. If you do not explicitly submit it, the exam attempt will not be counted according to the Terms of the Special Regulations to the APO. Your work will only be considered on-time, if you have not exceeded the allotted amount of time.

Oral examinations via video conference:

Oral in-person examinations may be conducted via video conference. The content of the oral exam, the competences that are being assessed in the exam, and the length of the exam are oriented on those stipulated in the SPO for the respective in-person exam. This exam format can be used for individual or (virtual) group exams and also for moderated group discussions.

Before the exam begins, you must display your student ID on camera to verify your identity and show that you are alone in the room and have no unpermitted aids by rotating the camera 360 degrees.

It is not permitted to record the examination.

5. Reviewing assessed examinations (Einsicht)

After the exams are corrected, students may review their exams (Einsicht) online or under conditions as stipulated by the hygiene regulations on the date of the review. The respective examiners will inform you of the procedure for each course.
